

Ms. Eva Chan Elected as New Chair of Asia PKI Consortium

The Asia PKI Consortium is proud to announce the election of Ms. Eva Chan as its new Chair. With her extensive experience and leadership in the field of digital trust, cybersecurity, and public key infrastructure, Ms. Chan's appointment marks an exciting new chapter for the Consortium and its ongoing efforts to promote digital security and interoperability across the Asia-Pacific region.

As the new Chair, Ms. Chan will work alongside a diverse group of experts, policymakers, and organizations committed to strengthening digital trust frameworks and promoting secure digital transformation. Her leadership is expected to drive forward key initiatives aimed at enhancing cross-border trust, interoperability, and the development of future-proof digital identity solutions in the region.

Reflecting on her election, Ms. Chan expressed her enthusiasm for the opportunity to contribute to the Consortium's mission. "I am honored to take on this role and look forward to working with our esteemed members to drive impactful change in the digital trust landscape," she said. "Together, we can ensure a more secure and connected digital future for Asia and beyond."

The outgoing Chair, Mr. Srinivasan, extended his heartfelt congratulations to Ms. Chan on her election. "I am thrilled to see Ms. Chan take on this important leadership role," he remarked. "Having been with the Consortium as a founding member, she has consistently driven the Consortium's objectives with passion and energy. I am confident that under her leadership, the Consortium will achieve even greater milestones."

Along with Ms. Chan's appointment, the new board will include Mr. Biju Varghese from India and Mr. William Gee from Hong Kong, who will serve as Vice Chairs, alongside Mr. Vijayakumar Manjunatha, who will continue his vital role as Secretary General. Together, this distinguished leadership team will provide strategic direction and ensure the continued success of the Consortium's initiatives.

The Asia PKI Consortium has been at the forefront of advancing public key infrastructure, digital signatures, and related technologies in the region. With Ms. Chan's leadership, the Consortium is poised to further its influence in shaping global digital trust standards and ensuring a secure digital ecosystem for businesses, governments, and individuals alike.

Congratulations to Ms. Eva Chan on her election and look forward to her leadership as the Asia PKI Consortium continues to be a driving force in the global digital trust landscape.
